

James W. Geiger
5776 Coal Drive, Suite 121
Cartersville, Illinois 62918
(217) 265-8989

EDUCATION

- 1984 Bachelors of Science in Geology, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, IL, Geology Field Camp experience in Idaho, Montana, South Dakota, and Wyoming.
- 1982 Associate of Science in Engineering, Belleville Area College (now Southwest Illinois College, Belleville, IL.

WORK EXPERIENCE

1992 - PRESENT

Illinois State Geological Survey, Environmental Site Assessments Section Southern Illinois Field Office; Perform preliminary environmental site assessments and evaluate potential environmental and geologic hazards and risks for Illinois Department of Transportation infrastructure improvement projects. Public outreach activities conducted annually.

1987 - 2001

Missouri Air National Guard, 110 Weather Flight, St. Louis, Missouri, Weather Forecaster.

1988 - 1992

Midwest Weather, Inc., National Weather Service, Lambert International Airport, St. Louis, Missouri, Weather Observer.

SAFETY TRAINING

1992 - Present

Successfully completed and maintained OSHA 40-hour Hazardous Waste Site Worker Training with subsequent annual 8-hour refresher courses.

PUBLICATIONS and PRESENTATIONS

Geiger J. W., (1992-Present), hundreds of IDOT Preliminary Environmental Site Assessments Reports: Illinois State Geological Survey-Environmental Site Assessments Section.

Geiger, J. W. (2006). Summary of Former Manufactured Gas Plants of Illinois (draft). Illinois State Geological Survey. Presented at Midwest Arc User Group Conference, Omaha, Nebraska in September 2003, published as draft in 2006.